

Wi-Fi is another way for you to stay connected. And for us, that's what it's all about.

What is Wi-Fi?

Wi-Fi, short for wireless fidelity, is a wire-free way for you to connect to the Internet. In your home, at the airport or at a restaurant, a router is set up to wirelessly broadcast a signal, creating a "hot spot," which your Wi-Fi enabled device can then detect. With thousands of hot spots around the world, and the largest Wi-Fi network* in the United States, we connect you to the Internet at fast speeds, without the wires. We help you stay in touch with what's most important.
